

I know a lot about eggs. There are many kinds of eggs. Do you know that the largest egg is a dinosaur egg and the smallest egg is a fish egg?

I know a lot of animals that hatch from eggs.

All kinds of birds lay eggs and sit on them to protect them.

All kinds of fish lay eggs but if they sink they don't protect it and if it floats they swim around it and protect it.

All reptiles lay eggs and bury them in the sand. Then if they want to know where the egg is they could smell the sand.

I like boiled eggs.

The eggs that we eat are oval.

Eggs are very easy to break. They are like breaking a mug because one day my mom dropped a mug by an accident and it scattered all over the floor.

There is a holiday we celebrate with colorful Easter eggs.

There is an Easter bunny. He lives in a barn with chickens. Everytime the chicken lays one <sup>egg</sup> he takes it and colors it and before Easter-morning. He hide it and children have to find it.

Eggs are interesting.
